Her father, Nikolai Parnok, was a merchant, while her mother, Veronika, was a devout Orthodox Christian. From an early age, Sophia exhibited a precocious talent for poetry and a deep affinity for literature, which set her apart from her peers.

Growing up in a conservative environment, Parnok's early years were marked by internal conflicts about her identity and her desires. Her family's strict religious values clashed with her burgeoning awareness of her sexuality and her artistic ambitions. These early struggles would inform much of her later poetic themes, especially her exploration of love, longing, and identity.

Educational Pursuits and Artistic Influences

Parnok's formal education was sporadic but marked by a keen pursuit of literary knowledge. She attended local schools before moving to Saint Petersburg in her late teens, seeking a vibrant intellectual community. There, she immersed herself in the city's thriving literary circles and was influenced by the modernist movements sweeping through European literature.

Key influences on her early development included:

Sophia Parnok published her first poems in literary journals in the early 1910s, quickly gaining recognition for her lyrical voice and emotional honesty. Her early poetry was characterized by lush imagery, musicality, and an exploration of love and identity.
